GREAT SPEECH OF HON. J. S BLACK.

Andrew Jackson vs. Modern Radicalism.

At the Democratic banquet given at the Metropolitan Hotel, in Washington, on the eighth of January, the following toast was proposed: "The memory of Andrew Jackson: A great general: a greater statesman and magistrate." To this Judge Black responded as follows:

There is no day in the year, except the 4th of July, that ought to be kept so sacred as the 8th of January. [Applause.] And, except the Father of his Country, there is no name known among men that is entitled to a higher reverence than that of Andrew Jackson. [Applause.] I put Washington first because the place which he occupies in history, as the foremost man of all this world, has never been disputed. [Applause.] It was always admitted that he stood alone, without a peer among mortals. Competition gave way before the acknowledged greatness of his character, and rivalry itself conceded the palm to his pre-eminent virtue. I know not how it may be with others, but his is a name which I never was able to pronounce without emotions of respect and reverence which I have no form of words to express.

But the reputation of Jackson has not been so fortunate. His life was one long battle with the enemies of constitutional freedom. [Applause.] They assailed him with every species of slander, and even at this day the foul birds that streamed around him in his lifetime, and others hatched in the same bad nest, light whenever they can upon his tombstone to defile his tomb with their obscene droppings. [Loud applause.] One of the most injurious of these aspersions is that by which the radical party have attempted to make him authority for their own attempts to trample upon liberty and law.—[Great applause]. If that be true; if he is authority for them; if he has set the example for their misconduct; if they are traveling upon a path which has one impress of his footstep, then he is wholly and utterly unworthy of the honor which the American people all through the country are bestowing upon him at this moment.—[Applause.] Then I give him up. He is their man: he is not ours.

If General Jackson ever did anything in his life which can justify the murder, kidnapping and robbery of innocent men and women; if he ever used military force for the purpose of enslaving any State, north or south, [applause;] if he ever used one atom of his powerful influence for the purpose of subjugating his fellow-citizens, or any portion of them, to the domination of a negro government, [cries of "good" and applause;] if there be one single act of his whole life that can be cited as an example for the coarse, cruel and corrupt despotism which the radicals have organized wherever and whenever they could, then he don't belong to our communion. [Applause.] In that case he is only fit to be set up in that heathen pagoda which despotism has established among us, as one of the divinities to be worshipped beside such generals as Pope and Baker, [loud applause,] and others of that class, where the worshippers lay it down as part of their creed that the constitution is "a league with hell and a covenant with death;" where the high priests that minister at the altar have qualified themselves for holy orders by being hired delators and perjured witnesses, and where an act of worhsip which they offer consists in false affidavits against the honor and rights of innocent people.

I am not here to pronounce any eulogy or to make any defense of General Jackson, but I do wish to refer to one passage in his life upon which the slander to which I have referred is based, if it be based upon anything. When General Jackson undertook the defense of the city of New Orleans, in the fall of 1814, he assumed a responsibility such as had rarely been taken by anybody in the world, and such as very few men except himself would have taken under such circumstances. The British army was 14,000 strong, composed of veterans, ably commanded, thoroughly trained, and fresh from the victorious battle-fields of the Spanish Peninsula. They had never known what it was to be defeated. No hostile army of equal strength had ever before landed in one body upon the American shores. To meet them General Jackson had half the number of raw levies, hastily collected from the plough and the workshop, not organized; all of them imperfectly equipped, and some of them—a considerable number of them—not armed at all.

With these fearful odds against him, he was required to hold possession of an unwalled and unfortified town, situate upon an open plain, accessible upon every side, and with absolutely no defenses, natural or artificial, except what were to be erected upon the spur of the occasion, and he had not the assistance of one experienced officer or engineer to aid him in putting up his field works or mounting his guns. This desperate game was to be played for a stake of the most stupendous magnitude. The possession of the whole valley of the Mississippi depended upon it; and if the city had been taken by assault, we shudder, even at this distance of time, to think what must have been its fate. The very troops that were then marching to the attack had committed the most atrocious cruelties only a few months before, at Badajos and St. Sebastian; and here again they were to be rewarded with beauty and booty. The defense seemed like a forlorn hope, without a particle of confidence in its success—no one had, except what was inspired by the courage, genious, and energy of their great commander.

But he was a host in himself. They wisely determined that they would throw the whole responsibility upon him—that they would put their fate entirely in his hands, and they did so. Members of the Legislature, officers of the city corporation and judges of the courts came and laid their powers at his feet, and voluntarily agreed that they would surrender and suspend their official functions until the danger was over. The whole population, with one voice, besought him that he would make the city a part of his camp, and take the absolute command upon himself of every human being within its limits. He did this at the universal request. He had a right to do it. It was proper that he should do it, for this simple and plain reason, that the city was in a state of actual siege. It was no fiction. His act bore no kind of resemblance to the wanton outrage of declaring martial law, which is no law at all, for the mere purpose of trampling down the law of the land at a place where there are no military operations going on. [Great applause.]

Jackson executed the authority thus bestowed upon him, not only moderately but benignly. He gathered the people around him, and protected their rights to the whole extent that he was able to do so, consistently with their own good and proper defense of the place, as tenderly as a father would care for his children. But he didn't allow himself to be trifled with. And that brings me to the only fact in his whole life that has ever been criticised with reference to this point. A gentleman named Louallier, who had been a member of the Legislature, became, in the course of time, discontented. He was one of General Jackson's soldiers—that is, he had put himself under his command as much as any volunteer in his army. But he became restive, and after a while he published an address, and printed and circulated it over the city, in which he counseled disobedience to the General's orders. That was simply mutiny, and the punishment of mutiny was death. But General Jackson only confined him, declaring at the time his intention to release him the very moment that he could do so with safety.

Then came Judge Hall, another of his voluntary subordinates. He under took to interfere with the discipline of General Jackson's camp, by issuing a habeas corpus for the body of the mutineer. The General, in order to save all trouble, sent the judge four miles up the river, with directions that he should remain outside of his picket lines until it should be known that the enemy had retired from the coast.—When the great battle had been won, when the invader had been driven away, when the city was saved with all its beauty and its booty, then Judge Hall returned; and so soon as he got back he commenced a prosecution against General Jackson for—what do you think? Contempt of court! The General thought that was very absurd. Nevertheless, although he had a victorious army at his back; although he was surrounded by a population that adored him as their great deliverer, he bowed his head to the lawful authorities of the country, as lowly as the humblest man in the nation. [Great applause.] He not only submitted to the legal process which was issued against him, but he gave to the judge the assurance that the same arm which had defended the city against a foreign invader, would stand between him and the danger of a popular outbreak.—[Applause.] He appeared before the court and made a defense which was worthy of his character as a lawyer, and perfectly consistent with his high renown as a statesman and a patriot. He pleaded that he was not, and could not, be guilty of any contempt of court, because that court had of its own accord relinquished its authority during the siege, and had notified him of the fact. He said that even if his act was illegal, he had committed, not a contempt of court, but a personal trespass against the judge, and to this he was willing to respond in a personal action before a court of competent jurisdiction and an impartial jury. But he insisted that his adversary had no right to sit in judgment upon his own case. This defense was overruled by the judge, and it was overruled in such manifest defiance of reason and and justice that the judge would have been torn into pieces if General Jackson had not redeemed his promise to protect him. But he did. When the the judge faltered for fear of the indignation of the crowd with which he was surrounded, the general rose in the court and said, "Go on and perform what you think your duty."—[Applause.] "I have fought for the liberties of this nation, and I will not permit the civil institutions of the country to be dishonored." [Applause.] The judge fined him a thousand dollars, and then his friends flocked around him to pay the fine for him; but he declined all such offers. "No," said he, "I will not evade the decision of a lawful tribunal." [Applause.] "I will pay this fine myself. It becomes me to suffer whatever has been inflicted, rightfully or wrongfully. And now," said he, "I am square with the law, even as Judge Hall has expounded it."

Now, if Genral Jackson had systematized robbery and murder by means of military commissions, [applause, and cried of 'Good;'] if, instead of using his army to fight the common enemy, he had scattered his soldiers over the country, hundreds of miles away from his post, to kidnap his political opponents for expressing their honest convictions; if he had ordered an upright and conscientious judge to be dragged from the bench by ruffians, beaten upon the head with the butt ends of their pistols, and carried away to prison, because he had administered justice according to law; and if, finally, he had established a military despotism upon the ruins of a free government, then I admit that he would have been fair authority, and they might have quoted him as an example of their misdeeds. But in truth and in fact, General Jackson was one of the ablest and best defenders of the constitution and the laws that the United States ever had. Their never lived a man within the limits of this country who would go further to defend them, or more cheerfully shed his blood to save them from violation. [Applause.]

There are some persons here, I think, who not only know the character of General Jackson, but who have been intimately acquainted with him. I ask of such what they suppose General Jackson would have thought of our "Bureau of Military Justice," if such a bloody machine as that had been set up in his time. [Great applause and laughter.] I do not know; I can only conjecture; I think he would have shattered it into a thousand atoms with one blow of his ponderous hand, [applause;] and the first impulse of his noble and generous nature would have been to take that lawless crew by the throat and pitch them into the Patomac. [Applause.] I do not say he would have done it any more then our honored chief magistrate would. [Tremendous applause and three cheers for the President.] Let me tell you the reason why I think he would not have done it. He was a perfectly law-abiding man. He would have waited his time. He would have curbed his fiery temper; he would have chastened down, (as he always did,) in a proper way, his impetuous passions. But, sooner or later, he would have done what will be done yet. [Great applause.] He would have made those miscreants feel the majesty of legal justice.

The Spaniards have a proverb that the mill of God grinds slowly, but it grinds dreadfully fine. [Laughter.]—And now, don't you think the people of this country are about to let the water on? [Great laughter.]

I said that I had no eulogy or defense to make of General Jackson; but I do say now, in conclusion, that if the people of this country will appreciate his character truly, and remember well the lessons that his acts and his precepts have furnished them, they will have such a government as that which he described in his protest to the Senate—not a despotism surrounded by the pride, pomp and circumstance of military show, but a quiet government, which will protect their liberties and their rights—a government distributing its blessings like the dews of Heaven, unseen and unfelt, save in the beauty and freshness they contribute to produce. As long as we keep our eyes upon his history, as the pole star by which we are to be guided, we will be wise; and whenever we quit it we will be otherwise.—[Great applause.]

CONJUGAL FRIENDSHIP.—Till a man has experienced the affection of an amiable, intelligent, unsophisticated woman, he knows not half the charm of life; nor, till he has enjoyed the friendship of such a one, does he truly know what friendship is. For men's friendships for one another are always more or less shaped by business feeling; whereas woman's for men are generosity itself. Happy the man who has a woman for a friend; thrice happy, who has her in his wife. A man's wife may be everything that is sweet and beautiful, but still she is not his wife in the highest and truest sense, till he can call her, from his heart, his friend. And to be this, is women's triumph. For the glory of her life lies not in the admiration of her lover, but in the solid confidence of her husband; in his reliance on her intelligence and truth, for his esteem in her piety and virtues. Not that she can be made his friend without effort of her own. She gained the position by constant cultivation of what she perceives her husband most to value and admire amid the things which her own innate sense of purity and propriety commends as worthy of their mutual regard.

A line in one of Moore's songs reads thus: "Our couch shall be roses bespangled with dew." To which a sensible girl replied: "T'would give me the rheumatiz and so it would you."

A greenhorn sat a long time, very attentive, musing upon a cane-bottom chair. At length he said: "I wonder what fellow took the trouble to find al them ar holes, and put straws around 'em."

HIGH LIVING AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.

There are more failures occurring in the commercial cities than commercial journals are inclined to make public. Of course it is discreet to observe reticence in reference to such affairs, as publicity to business failures frequently tend to panics which lead to disasters that might otherwise have been avoided. What we desire to state in this connection is that the cause to which these failures are attributed is not always the right one. Many merchants fail, and it is to their advantage to have it understood that their bankruptcy was brought about by fluctuations in the market which neither their sagacity could foresee nor their ability control when they occurred. Be this as it may, such are not the influences which carry seven out of every ten men to bankruptcy who reach that deplorable condition. Extravagance in personal taste, wilful waste in domestic affairs, sinful exhibitions of debauchery, gluttony, pomp and show are what press many a business man, merchant and manufacturer to insolvency. High living in the leading classes of the commercial cities, a disposition to ape the grandeur of the metropolis on the part of those who live in the rural districts, our inland cities and towns, is the influence which is deranging our finances and hurrying the country to a crisis through which it cannot pass without suffering serious injury. Too many men are making debts, which, at the time of their contraction, they have not the remotest prospect of paying. Too many husbands are indulging their families in a style of living which their incomes do not warrant them in keeping up. Too many wives are arrayed in costly garments charged on the merchant's books as "bad debts." If the American people could be induced to abstain from the extravagance into which they have fallen; if business could be done without speculation; if men were content with fair profits, and confined themselves within the limits of their means, we would soon be the most prosperous people in the world. But we have yet to learn what it is to be prudent, economical and thrifty. All follies have their penalties. The indiscretions of nations, like those of individuals must be atoned for in some way; and surely the indiscretion of high living will yet require atonement most terrible to endure.

THE CONSTABLE AND PEDDLER.—A certain constable a short time since espied a tin peddler pursuing his trade, and like a pickerel after a minnow he rushed at him and inquired:

"Have you a license to sell?"

"No," coolly replied the itinerant vender of pots and pans, "I havn't."

"Well, sir, I'll attend to your case," says the Dogberry.

"All right," says the peddler, "do."

The eager official rushes off to the nearest trial justice and obtains a warrant, and armed and equipped with the lawful documeuts started on a chase after the offending itinerant. Some time, during day the next, after a long chase, the representative Yankee was found, and hustled before the justice, who read to him the warrant, and as a matter of form, of course, asked him whetner he was guilty or not guilty.

The justice and constable opened wide their eyes to such contumacy. They had not been in the habit of seeing such.

"Not guilty," quoth the former, "don't you peddle goods around here?"

"Yes," replied the alleged culprit.

"Well, have you a license?" asked Rhadamanthus, in, "sarcastical" tones.

"Oh, yes," said the traveling agent.

"Why," says the justice—quote another expression coming over his countenance—"didn't you tell this gentleman that you had no license?"

"No sir."

"Yes you did," shouted Tipstaff.

"No, I didn't," quietly replies the peddler.

"I say you did," vociferated the constable.

"I swear I didn't," still persists the peddler.

"Well, what did you tell me, then?"

"You asked me if I had a license to sell, and I told you I hadn't; and I havn't a license to sell," continues the peddler, in an injured tone, "for I want it to peddle with."

CONGRESS spends millions of dollars per year to feed and clothe the negroes of the South, who will not work, and at the same time refuses work in the navy yards to white laborers and mechanics, who are willing to give a full equivalent to the government for the wages they may receive. This is Radical love for white workingmen. It is no wonder they are organizing in all parts of the country to hurl from power the dominant organization of the nation.

A TALL, keen-eyed countryman walked in the court room during the progress of a trial. Stepping up to one of the "ring," he requested that the prisoners might be pointed out to him. The lawyer he accosted being somewhat of a wag, pointed to the jury. The stranger surveyed them critically, when turning to his informer he remarked: "Well, they are a hard looking set, ain't they? I know by their looks they ought to go to State's every one of them!"

"WELL, neighbor, what is the Christian news this morning?" said a gentleman to his friend. "I have just bought a barrel of flour for a poor woman." "Just like you. Who is it that you have made happy by your charity this time?" "My wife."

A lady having accidentally broken a smelling bottle, her husband, who was very petulant, said to her: 'I declare, my dear, everything that belongs to you is more or less broken.' 'True,' replied the lady, 'for even you are a little cracked.'

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

HARRISBURG, January 17, 1868.

DEAR READER:—The editor, having concluded to look in upon the doings of the Legislature, has the pleasure (so called) of addressing you from the State Capital.

Yesterday we wended our way to "the hill," and sat down amid the assembled wisdom of Pennsylvania. In the House of Representatives, a resolution endorsing the action of the U. S. Senate in restoring Stanton to the War Office, was under discussion. The debate was fierce and furious. The Radicals raked over the ashes of the late war, and sought dilligently among the blackened cinders of the bale-fires of that unhappy conflict, for a single unquenched coal with which to fire the "loyal heart." But not the smallest spark could be found, and Radicalism, chilled by the frosts of October, was warmed only by the terrible flagellation administered by the speakers on the Democratic side. Rinehl ranted, Herr and Hickman harrowed up the souls of the "loyal," with the most heart-rending accounts of Democratic "treason," the member from Tioga strove to strang-le the Democratic opposition, and his colleague from Potter Man-gled the King's English in terrific denunciation of President Johnson; but all in vain. The Democratic speakers, Messrs. Jenks, Chalfant, Linton, Deise and others, literally skinned them, and they were fain to close the debate by moving the previous question.

The course of the United States Senate in forcing Stanton back into the Cabinet, and the mendacity of Gen. Grant in violating his word pledged to the President, have caused much feeling in political circles. As for Stanton himself, he is held in contempt even by those who applaud the Senate for his restoration. The man who is thrust out of the family of his neighbor, and then seeks to force himself upon the society of that family, is not generally considered much of a gentleman. Much less is the cabinet minister, who is to advise and consult with the President, a gentleman, if he crawl back into the Presidential family after he has been kicked out of it. Such a man can only be regarded with contempt and disgust, and his name will be written down in history as that of a mean and groveling wretch, who sacrificed his own honor to carry out the malignant purposes of his party. But the indignation against Stanton, is no greater than that manifested toward Gen. Grant. "You can't make a silk purse of a sow's ear," and that a decent man can be made of one who was wont to wallow in the gutter, appears to be equally impossible, as shown by the case of this man Grant. It is well known that before the war, Grant was a man of dissolute habits and of doubtful standing in society. In his intercourse with President Johnson, he has proved that he cannot be trusted by his friends and that he is nothing, after all, but a successful cut-throat. We speak plainly, for we know whereof we affirm. When it became evident that the U. S. Senate would re-instate Stanton, Gen. Grant declared to President Johnson, that he would either resign, so that another Secretary of War ad in terim could be appointed, or he would hold on until Stanton's right to the place could be tested before the Supreme Court. This declaration was made to the President repeatedly by Grant, and the understanding between them was, that Grant should inform the President which course he would pursue, before the action of the Senate was consummated. Instead of keeping his word, he went out of the War Department like a sheep-stealing dog and permitted Stanton to crawl in before the President was aware of it. Among common people, such conduct would brand the man guilty of it as a liar and a traitor. What the name for it should be in Gen. Grant's case, we leave to the decision of those who know just exactly how much meanness and treachery ought to be covered by the mantle of the Lieutenant-Generalship. The people can now take the measure of this lock-jaw candidate for President. A man who fails to keep his solemn pledges to a friend, will fail to keep them to the people.

But the end is not yet. The miserable caitiff who has forced himself back into the office from which he was ejected, is not, and never will be, recognized by the President as Secretary of War. He may sit upon his stool and issue orders, but like those of King Canute to the sea, they will not be obeyed. If Stanton chooses to run a machine of his own, let him drive along, and we shall see how far he "will get." A significant fact, in this connexion, is the disapprobation of the course of the Senate, by such Radical organs as the N. Y. Times, the N. Y. Commercial, N. Y. Evening Post, Springfield (Mass.) Republican and other journals of a like character. Indeed, Grant himself, particeps criminis as he is, has declared that he was "chagrined at his own singular conduct toward the President," and has asked Stanton to resign.

Forgetful of the lesson of last fall, the Radicals in Congress are daily becoming more and more extreme. There are now two bills before that body which are intended to abolish the Executive branch of the Government, and to render the Supreme Court of the United States a nullity. The one takes all control of the military commanders in the South from the President and vests it in Gen. Grant; the other requires two-thirds of the Judges of the Supreme Court, (instead of a majority, as at present) to declare an act of Congress unconstitutional; that is to say, one third can decide an act of Congress constitutional, whilst twice that number of the Judges are required to decide it unconstitutional. Justice in Congres, should be represented by a set of hay-scales with three blind jack-asses standing upon them to balance the Constitution, Law and Precedents. Even Grant, toady as he is to the Radicals, can't stand this sort of legislation, but has entered his usual milk-and-water protest against it. Meanwhile, the industrial and financial interests of the country, languish and decay; bankruptcy stares the nation in the face; the few become richer, the many poorer; debt, taxation and starvation threaten the "lower million" with untold wretchedness; and yet Congress pushes forward the revolution. What is in store for us God only knows.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Dispatch to the Baltimore Sun.]

The President and Mr. Stanton.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—There is a decided lull in the excitement that has prevailed here for the past week, and to-day we have neither a startling fact nor a sensational rumor to record. It is well understood, by those conversant with the purposes of the administration, that none of the extravagant things and questionable orders mentioned, in dispatches sent hence were ever contemplated or under consideration by the President, and that they had existence only in the brains of the writers of the sensational telegrams which disturbed the citizens and commercial communities of the Northern cities during the week just closed. There is reason to expect that Mr. Stanton may resign in a few days.

Gen. Grant was again with him to-night and unqualifiedly expressed his opinion that Mr. Stanton should resign, and Gen. Sherman yesterday earnestly advised the same course. Meantime Mr. Stanton is reduced to the merest clerkship in the War Department. The President will not permit an order to be sent from that department except in strict accordance with law, which being literally followed, will prevent any order issuing from the Secretary of War as heretofore, and compel everything of that character to be issued by direction of the President. Gen. Grant will only recognize orders from the President. DATA.

HOW THE NEXT PRESIDENCY IS TO BE MANAGED.—The New York World expresses the conviction that if the American people sanction the reconstruction of the South under the military bills, and allow it to be carried into effect, the entire vote of that section in the presidential contest will be radical. The editor says:

And in ascertaining for whom the vote will be given no one need pursue his inquiries south of Washington. The Schenck committee can answer any such inquiry in advance; for that committee will in fact cast the ballot for the whole Africanized South. If that committee says "Chase," Chase will get the vote. If that committee says "Grant," Grant will receive it. If that committee says "Butler," the cork will fly, and the unbottled hero will pocket the votes of the ten States. This is all indisputably true. That committee engineers the whole business, and employs and pays its army of agents and manipulators, and every part of the monster and diabolical machinery responds faithfully to its will.

The New Radical Empire.

The N. Y. Herald presumes it will not "violate imperial confidence" by foreshadowing the character of the government and household of the new and magnificent empire proposed to be erected by the Radicals upon the ruins of republican liberty in the United States. Here it is:

His Imperial Highness Ulysses I.—Monarch of all he surveys.

Imperial Mouthpiece and keeper of the Imperial Word and Conscience—E. B. Washburne.

Minister of Confiscated Estates, and and General Factotum of the Imperial Mansion—Thaddeus Stevens.

Minister of Military Injustice—Edward M. Stanton.

Minister of the Radical Rack and Political Joint Twister in General—George S. Boutwell.

Usher of the Black Rod—Fred. Douglass.

Lord High Chamberlain and Picker Up of all the Imperial Old Boots, Old Hats, and Old Clothes Generally—John W. Forney.

Imperial Soft Impeacher and Knight Commander of the Order of the Sulphureous Bath—James M. Ashley.

Imperial Windmill and Chief of the Imperial Blowpipers—J. W. Hunnicutt.

Court Watchman—Henry Wilson.

Court Hangman—Ben. Wade.

Keeper of the Imperial Bedchamber—Charles Sumner.

Lady in Waiting—Anna Dickinson.

PERIODICALS.

THE OLD GUARD FOR FEBRUARY.—The February number of this admirable Magazine, which we have just received, is one of the best numbers ever published. The opening article, by the editor, on "The Principles and Policy of Democracy," should be read by those times serving Democratic editors who thought they were doing their country service by an unfortunate alliance with the Mongrel party. The next article, "Will the South be Represented in the Democratic Convention?" clearly foreshadows the wishes of the Northern Democracy on this point. "Dead Under the Roses," by Miss Marshall, "Astorre Manfredi," translated from the Italian expressly for The Old Guard, "The Battles of Virginia," being the last of the admirable sketches of John Esten Cook, which ran through the Magazine in 1867, a poem entitled "Cuffee in Congress," Dr. Van Evrie's second article on "The Types of Mankind," in which the history of the Mongolian, or yellow type, is handled in his usual able manner, several miscellaneous poems, a letter from a southern gentleman, and the Book and Editor's Tables, complete a number which should be read by every person who wishes to aid in the circulation of truth, at the same time acquire a thorough and correct knowlege of the current topics of the day. Single copies, 25c; $3 per year. Van Evrie, Horton & Co., publishers, 162 Nassau st., New York.

THE NORTHERN MONTHLY.—There has been laid on our table a copy of the NORTHERN MONTHLY for January, and an examination of its pages shows that this new venture in the world of periodical literature has taken a fresh and hopeful start. Harriet Prescott Spofford begins a serial story, the January portion of which, is, a magnificent prose poem. An article upon Charles Dickens in America reveals a keen and terrible pen, and although the views of the writer will call out criticism, they will also command attention. Other contributors are Wirt Sikes, who tells us all "About Philadelphia;" Mr. Tufts, who analyses the power and the style of three eminent metropolitan clergymen, Beecher, Chapin, and Duryea, Harriet McEwin Kimball, whose poem "Befriended," is a gem; and several other writers less known but thoroughly able. The Editorial Department has features which distinguish it from the other Magazines, and its literary matter is worked up in a quite novel way.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY FOR FEBRUARY.—This Magazine has always been nearer perfection than any other.—There is one admirable feature in it—"an unwearied effort at improvement." Most of the Fashion Magazines remain in statu quo, with one number much like another; about DEMOREST'S there is a freshness, a refinement and truthfulness of tone, which fits it for its place—a Parlor Magazine for the Homes of America. A new cover and large type are two of the attractions of the new volume. Published by W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 473 Broadway, N. Y., $3.00 yearly. Send for a circular.

THE LADY'S FRIEND FOR FEBRUARY.—A beautiful steel engraving, representing the hiding of Moses in the bulrushes, opens this number of the "Queen of the Monthlies." It is a very fine picture indeed. The double Steel Fashion Plate is as refined and elegant as usual. Then we have two pretty damsels peeping through the curtains on St. Volentine's day in the morning—and also a fine engraving of "The Meteoric Shower at Sea." The engravings of the Fashions, Patterens, Fancy Work, &c., are numerous and excellent. The music this month is the popular song, "Paddle Your own Canoe." The Literary matter is "The Romance of an Old Maid;" "A Dead Man's Rule," by Elizabeth Prescott; "Little Feet," by Florence Percy; "Disillusion;" "Some Things Mrs. Shrimp Saw," by Frances Lee; "Jean Clifton's Letters," by Bella F. Burton; "Friendships of Sisters," &c.; Editorials, &c. The publishers are still sending the December number, which is a very beautiful one, free to all New Subscribers for 1868. Other great inducements in the way of Premiums, &c., are promised to subscribers, and our readers should send for a sample copy, containing all these liberal offers. Sample copies will be sent for fifteen cents. Price (with engraving) $2.50 a year; Four copies (with one engraving) $6.00. One copy of Lady's Friend and and one copy of that popular weekly, The Saturday Evening Post (and one engraving), $4.00. Address Deacon & Peterson, 819 Walnut St., Philadelphia.

LETTER FROM GEN. HANCOCK.

WASHINGTON Jan. 15, 1868.—There was received at the headquarters of the army to-day, a copy of the letter addressed by Major General Hancock to the Governor of Texas, who asks, for reasons stated, that a military commission be appointed to try three persons for the crime of murder.

General Hancock, in reply, expresses the opinion that the existing government of Texas possess all the powers necessary for the proper and prompt trial of the prisoners in question, in due course of law, and says:

"It must be a matter of profound regret to all who value constitutional government, that there should be occasions, in times of civil commotion, when the public good imperativoly requires the intervention of the military power for the repression of disorders in the body politic, and for the punishment of offenses against the existing laws of a country, framed for the preservation of social order; but that the intervention of this power should be called for or even suggested, by a civil magistrate, when the laws are no longer silent, and civil magistrates are possessed, in their respective spheres, of all the powers necessary to give effect to the laws, excites the surprise of the Commander of the Fifth Military District.

Progress of the Radical Nigger Whitening Process Down South.

[From the New York Herald.]

The reports of the proceedings of the Southern Radical constitutional conventions continue to be diverting and characteristic both of the humor, ignorance, and desperation of Sambo. It is evident that the nigger whitening process is meeting with but equivocal success. The extreme is attempted in the Louisiana zebra convention, where the blacks, encouraged by their white allies, are grasping at more than the privileges extended to the whites. In all the public places, in all respectable hotels, traveling cars, and steamboats, where the discretion of managers and agents is exercised in regard to the propriety of receiving and entertaining white guests, that discretion is not to be permitted in the case of negroes. A white man drunk can be ejected with impunity by a Louisiana landlord, but a black man drunk can be visited with no such indignity under the new constitution, a black loafer, foul with filth, can take his seat beside a white lady at a hotel table, in the steamboat, saloon, or railway car, while a white loafer would be turned adrift without ceremony. In public assemblages, a black barbarian can yell to his heart's content and commit acts of disturbance without molestation, while a white rowdy is hastily despatched to the nearest station house. Briefly, the whole scheme of these Louisiana Radicals is to make the black not only the equal, but the superior, of the white man; to break down all the rules of society, looking in their aspiring ignorance, to the time when a decent white woman will esteem it an honor to wed a lazy and besotted black.

In the Virginia Convention two remarkable events have just occurred, and nearly at the same time—the recognition of the Deity, and the appearance of Ben. Butler. The Conservatives made a call for Henry A. Wise, but he did not appear. The convention has also just decided two other matters, both of which have already been settled and clinched by the Union arms—namely, that secession is null and void and that slavery is forever abolished.

The opening vapors of the North Carolina Convention begin to arise, but nothing of a tangible shape has yet appeared.

The South Carolina Convention, in which the blacks have some ten majority, is laboring which of two evils to choose—a South Carolina or a Massachusetts man for presiding officer. The latter is said to be the blackest.

The Georgia Convention is both hungry and desperate. Things are becoming more and more gloomy and intricate in that State. The presence of General Meade does not appear to have smoothed the ruggedness of the situation or softened the asperities of party feeling. There is no money either in the State Treasury or the pockets of the delegates. It is a beggarly show all around. A call is made to Congress to donate the public lands to the negroes in order to test their capabilities of self-government. It would be a good way of getting rid of them.

The Mississippi Convention is floundered between going on with its business and smashing up altogether. The proceedings thus far are exceedingly farcical; but the negro element predominates, at twenty dollars per day each.

Meanwhile the starving darkies in the interior, as well as in cities, are awaiting the results of all these efforts to hasten them on the road to civilization; and, when not engaged in pastimes of a more lively and desperate character, they pass their time in catching catfish and stealing sweet potatoes. They are too lazy to earn even their salt.

The New Amendment to the Reconstruction Acts.

The new amendment to the Reconstruction acts, which have been so often amended before, proposes to put aside the Supreme Court as an interpreter of the laws, and the President as the Executor of them, in order that Congress may absorb into itself all the functions of Government. It has heretofore evinced such superior wisdom, in the restoration of the late insurgent States, and in the management of finance and taxation, that it thinks nothing less than universal power its due.

While it proposes to forbid the judiciary to pronounce an opinion on certain subjects, it also declares the number of votes in bench by which any opinion is to be held as valid. Two-thirds of the judges—not a majority of them—must concur in pronouncing upon the constitutional merits of any law; that is, two-thirds this month, but as Congress regulates the matter, it may be three-fourths next month, and the month after unanimity. In other words the decisions of the highest judicial tribunal will be made to take their complexion from the politics of the legislative department.

By the organic law, the President of the United States is made the Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States; but that is an antiquated law, and Congress proposes to set it aside by enacting a law of its own "sovereign will"—as the impeachment report would say—conferring the power upon our principal general. As a soldier of great distinction and merit, he is ordered to begin with an act of insobordination towards his chief whose authority he is to disregard, and assume the character of military dictator in ten at least of the States of the Union.—N. Y. Post. (Republican.

GRANT has admitted that he promised the President, when appointed, to retain the office of Secretary of War until relieved by the President or ousted by a mandamus, but says he changed his mind about the power of the Rump Senate to reinstate Stanton, after he gave that promise, and therefore gave up the office upon a simple notice from the Rump Senate. It is pretty evident that his nomination for the Presidency by "narrow-minded blockheads" greatly assisted him in "changing his mind," but that will not relieve him of any of the odium of a violated promise. There is scarcely any doubt now left that this "military adventurer" has for some time been secretly acting as the tool of the Rump traitors. His whole course towards the President has been that of a trickster and in nothing like a man or a soldier. During the past few days he has fallen to the level of the lowest mongrel politicians in the estimation of the people.—Patriot and Union.

BEN BUTLER is in Richmond, and is receiving all sorts of attentions at the hands of his short-haired friends.—Wonder whether the "great bottled" has gone South to inaugurate the already announced movement, looking to his nomination as the out-and-out negro candidate for the Presidency? By this move he hopes to checkmate Grant, whose rising popularity has thrown "Spoons" Butler's chances into the back-ground. Since Grant's duplicity in the Stanton affair, Butler will doubtless feel strongly encouraged, and may, in the end, if he will but persevere, succeed in accomplishing his cherished purpose.—Evening Herald.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Conservative Meeting—Great Enthusiasm.

LITTLETON, N. H., January 8.—The Conservatives of New Hampshire held the largest and most enthusiastic meeting that has ever been held in the northern part of this State, in this place to-day. A President, twenty-three Vice Presidents, three Secretaries, all late of the Radical party, officered the meeting, which was addressed by Hon. E. C. Baker of Boston, and John H. George of Concord, who made long but interesting speeches, after which some of the prominent converts made remarks announcing their intention to vote for the Democratic nominee.—This wholesale renunciation has created great surprise and will do much service for the good cause. One of the Vice Presidents was a member of the Radical State Central Committee for the past and present year; another was apparently one of the most zealous at their last State Convention; none of the officers have heretofore identified themselves with the Democrats.—Judging from changes like these on every side, you may justly expect good tidings of us in the spring.

More Diabolism—A Little White Girl Outraged by a Negro.

One of the most infamous outrages that ever occurred in this city was perpetrated in Cherry alley very recently. A black fiend named Charles Henry, who was in the habit of visiting the house of James Moloney, during the latter's imprisonment for violation of the license law, took advantage of his absence to violate the person of his daughter, a little girl between seven and eight years of age, and communicated to her a loathsome disease. According to the little girl's statement before Mayor Edwards yesterday afternoon, the black-skinned and black-hearted scoundrel repeated the monstrous crime on last Tuesday night, having in the meantime silenced his victim by threats. The child's condition led to a suspicion that she had been outraged, and upon being interrogated, she made developments which led to the negro's arrest. After a hearing Mayor Edwards demanded two thousand dollars bail for Henry's appearance at court, in default of which he was committed to prison.—Harrisburg Patriot and Union.

CANCER, SCROFULA, &c., CURED.—☞ Persons afflicted with Cancer, Scrofula, Tumors, Eruptions, &c., are CURED by the use of Dr. GREENE'S ELECTRO-MEDICATED BATHS and Indian Vegetable remedies which cleanse the blood of all Humors, Mercury, Lead, &c., and restore health to invalids afflicted with every variety of disease. A book describing Cancer, Scrofula, Humors and other diseases, with their proper means of cure, may be obtained free at the Medical Institute, or by mail. Address Dr. R. GREENE, 16 Temple place, Boston, Mass.

ADDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED whose sufferings have been protracted from hideous causes, and whose cases require prompt treatment to render existence desirable. If you are suffering or have suffered from involuntary discharges, what effect does it produce upon your general health? Do you feel weak, debilitated, easily tired? Does a little extra exertion produce palpitation of the heart? Does your liver, or urinary organs, or your kidneys, frequently get out of order? Is your urine sometimes thick, milky, or flocky, or is it ropy on settling? Or does a thick scum rise to the top? Or is a sediment at the bottom after it has stood awhile? Do you have spells of short breathing or dyspepsia? Are your bowels constipated? Do you have spells of fainting or rushes of blood to the head? Is your memory impaired? Is your mind constantly dwelling upon this subject? Do you feel dull, listless, moping, tired of company, of life? Do you wish to be left alone, to get away from everybody? Does any little thing make you start or jump? Is your sleep broken or restless? Is the lustre of your eye as brilliant? The bloom on your cheek as bright? Do you enjoy yourself in society as well? Do you pursue your business with the same energy? Do you feel as much confidence in yourself? Are your spirits dull and flagging, given to fits or melancholy? If so, do not lay it to your liver or dyspepsia. Have you restless nights? Your back weak, your knees weak, and have but little appetite, and you attribute this to dyspepsia or liver-complaint?

Now, reader, self-abuse, venereal diseases badly cured, and sexual excesses, are all capable of producing a weakness of the generative organs. The organs of generation, when in perfect health, make the man. Did you ever think that those bold, defiant, energetic, persevering, successful business men are always those whose generative organs are in perfect he lth? You never hear such men complain of being melancholy, of nervousness, of palpitation of the heart. They are never afraid they cannot succeed in business; they don't become sad and discouraged; they are always polite and pleasant in the company of ladies, and look you and them right in the face—none of your downcast looks or any other meanness about them. I do not mean those who keep the organs inflamed by running to excess. These will not only ruin their constitutions, but also those they do business with or for.

How many men from badly-cured diseases, from the effects of self-abuse and excesses, have brought about that state of weakness in those organs that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease—idiocy, lunacy, paralysis, spinal affections, suicide, and almost every other form of disease which humanity is heir to, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever suspected, and have doctored for all but the right one.

Diseases of these organs require the use of a diuretic. HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic, and is a certain cure for diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel, Dropsy, Organic Weakness, Female Complaints, General Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating and no m tter how long standing.

If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue. Our flesh and blood are supported from these sources, and the health and happiness, and that of Posterity, depends upon prompt use of a reliable remedy.

Helmbold's Extract Buchu, established upward of 18 years, prepared by

H. T. HELMBOLD, Druggist,

FACTS.

That we have unequalled facilities for conducting business to the advantage both of ourselves and patrons, we submit the following TRUTHS—well known as such to the entire business community.

1st. We have abundant cash capital, therefore—
2d. We are enabled to Buy for Cash exclusively, consequently at the lowest possible prices, with the markets of the entire world to select from.
3d. In this particular WE HAVE ADVANTAGES shared by no other house in our business.
4th. We sell for cash exclusively—therefore at the lowest possible prices—having no losses incurred by selling on credit, to provide for.
5th. We have a business experience of a quarter of a century, having been longer established than any house in our trade in Philadelphia.
6th. Our business is thoroughly systematized, the result of long experience, which has taught us what the wants of the public are, and how best to meet them.
7th. We employ the best talent in all departments, our garments are therefore unsurpassed in style, fit and workmanship.
8th. Our business is large and constantly, increasing, enabling us to keep at all times the largest, best assorted, and most complete stock of MEN'S, YOUTHS', and BOYS' CLOTHING in Philadelphia, to which large daily additions are made of fresh goods, replacing those sold.
9th. For reasons already enumerated we can, and do sell clothing in every respect superior—surpassed by none, equalled by few—at prices guaranteed in all cases lower than the the lowest elsewhere, or the sale cancelled and money refunded.
10th. If buyers should for any cause become dissatisfied after a purchase is made, if reported within a reasonable time, we pledge ourselves, by exchange, refunding of money, or otherwise, to give full satisfaction in every case, and request that all such may be reported to us for adjustment.

CARD.—Our stock of Fall and Winter Clothing is full and complete, and selling rapidly, but is as rapidly replenished each day with fresh and desirable styles of new goods, purchased recently, for cash, at great sacrifices, enabling us to sell at prices lower than have been known for years. Congratulating our patrons upon the decline of prices, which enables us to offer superior garments at such low rates, we request the favor of a call.

Proofs of the Superiority of

THE AMERICAN

WATCHES.

This country has reason to be proud of this splendid specimen of American operative genius and enterprise. That it will work a revolution in the watch manufacturing of the world no one can doubt who examines the operations of the Waltham establishment, for it turns out watch movements at just about one-half the cost of imported movements—beside the uniform reliability of the machine-made watches must give them a great advantage over all others wherever known. A poor time-piece of the machine make will be as rare in the future as a good one of hand make has been heretofore for machinery is arbitrary in its performance, and can make a perfect article just as easy as one that is worthless. It will be a cause of congratulation if this highly useful American Enterprise shall have the effect of driving out of market the thousands of trashy foreign articles miscalled timekeepers, by furnishing so excellent and economical a substitute.—N. Y. Times.

"We have had one of the works of this Company in a case for some considerable time, and comparing them with former first-class works of different manufacture possessed by us, they have established in our opinion their superiority over any ever introduced for correctness as time pieces."—The World.

"We notice with regret (writing of the Paris Exposition) the absence of specimens of American manufacture, which, although only comparatively of recent birth among us, is already producing results of the most satisfactory character. The watches manufactured by the Waltham Company are certainly, so far as strength, durability, and excellence as time-keepers are concerned, as good as anything produced by the French or Swiss manufacturers."—N. Y. Herald.

"The beauty, the precision, the greater cheapness, the uniform excellence of a watch constructed by machinery so exquisite that the mere spectacle of its operation is poetic, gradually give the American Watches a public preference which will not be deceived."—Harpers' Weekly.

TO OWNERS OF HORSES.—Thousands of horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 20 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the racing stables of England for it. The celebrated Hiram Woodruff, of trotting fame, used it for years, and said it is far superior to any other he has tried. Recollect, Dr Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment is put up in pint bottles. Take no other. Sold by the Druggists and Saddlers. Depot, 56 Cortlandt Street, New York. jan10w4

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—The Rev. EDWARD A. HUNTINGDON AND BROAD TOP R.R.—WINTER ARRANGEMENT.—TIME TABLE.—Accommodation Train leaves Saxton at 7.35 a. m., and arrives at Huntingdon, at 9.30 a.m.; leaves Huntingdon at 4.40 p. m., and arrives at Saxton at 6.38 p. m.

Mail Train leaves Mt. Dallas at 1.00 p. m., arrives at Huntingdon at 4 17 p.m.; leaves Huntingdon at 7.50 a. m., and arrives at Mt. Dallas a 11.05 a. m.

CAUTION.—As the postoffice regulations are not understood, as to the illegality and penalty for carrying letters or other mailable matter, outside the mail by mail carriers, it is proper that the following extrats from the post-office regulations should be published:

"Mail-carriers, contractors or drivers, cannot lawfully carry out of the mail any letter or packet unless the same has been prepaid by a stamped envelope of suitable denomination."

"Letters, prepaid by stamps, cannot lawfully be carried out of the mails."

Violations of these provisions render contractors, conductors, and stage drivers liable to prosecution and a heavy fine.

If a letter is endorsed in a stamped envelope, a mail-carrier can carry and deliver it. He cannot do so if the letter is paid by stamp. Persons who wish to send letters by stage drivers, should note the difference.

LEAP YEAR.—This is Leap Year, as everybody knows, a privileged twelve months for every Maiden and Widow in the land, and by established custom it is perfectly consistent with modesty and propriety for any single lady to propose marriage to any gentleman she may fancy during the year. Let them remember that no man worth having would dare to decline. Propositions can be made either in person or by letter.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.—A Newburryport gentleman of eighty-three has just taken a young wife, his first venture in matrimony. If fifty years ago there could have been such fashionable, durable and well-made clothing and gents' furnishing goods, hats, &c., as can now be found at R. W. Berkstresser & Co.'s, in Bedford, the old fellow's heart would have grown so warm that he would have married and had a happy family circle.

THE ESTEY ORGAN.—The Springfield Republican says: "A peculiar and admirable feature of this instrument is the Vox Humana Tremolo, recently invented and patented, and which does away with all the objections sometimes urged against tremulants. This one being under perfect control as to rapidity, its delicate pulsations appeal to the listener with a power and pathos impossible to resist."

These Organs are manufactured at Brattleboro, Vt.

CRIME of all kinds, especially incendiarism and robbery, has never been more prevalent than now. Our State exchanges are of opinion that well organized bands of experienced theives are leaving Philadelphia, Baltimore and the other principle cities, at stated periods, who move under concerted plans, in order to rob dwelling houses in defenceless villages, and carry on depredations generally. Look out for them.

LOAFING.—Any business is more respectable than what is termed loafing. A young man had better sell oysters by the quart than hang around public resorts, murdering time and his own reputation. Very few need be idle anywhere or at any time, who have a faculty for work. Four-sevenths of mankind, however, take to laziness and the sunny side of things, as naturally as dunners to impudence or teamsters to profanity.

NEW FIRM.—Mr. O. O. Marbourg, has purchased Mr. David Border's interest in the dry-goods, grocery and variety store of Black & Border in Schellsburg. The new firm, Messrs. Black & Marbourg, will always keep on hand a fresh assortment of goods of all kinds, and will sell them at the lowest prices. See their advertisement in another column.

AMUSING ENTERTAINMENT.—Mr. Witney entertained our citizens, on last Friday, Saturday and Monday evenings, in the Court House, with an excellent series of magic descriptions and scientific experiments, in a most successful manner. He performs all his tricks well, most of which are new.

FROZEN FEET.—It is astonishing how many have been cured of frozen feet and bunions by using Heckerman's Regelon. This is a certain cure for frozen feet and bunions. It was discovered by our young friend, M. P. Heckerman. Sold at Heckerman's drug store and at Mardorff's.

THE TWO STANDARDS.—Liberty's standard sheet, the star-spangled banner, and America's standard perfume, Phalon's "Night-Blooming Cereus." Wherever the one floats in the air, so does the other.—New Haven Palladium.

WE call attention to the advertisement of the Providence (R. I.) Herald in column of new advertisements.

Illegality of the Reconstruction Acts of Congress.

In a speech at the 8th of January celebration, Attorney General Stanbery declared: "I do not hesitate to say that the whole of these Reconstruction acts of Congress, from beginning to end, are first, second, and third in the series, unconstitutional and void. There are times when men must speak out. I will not attempt to school myself into reliance upon these great questions and I should not, if I would." It is said that Justices Grier, Nelson, Clifford, and Field, of the Supreme Court, agree with the Attorney General, and that Justices Chase, Miller, and Swayne take the Rump view. Justice Davis is said to be undecided.

A California miner, who has barely realized a living for eleven years, dug out $16,000 in three days' work recently.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE BLUE-COATS,

And how they Lived, Fought and Died for the Union, with Scenes and Incidents in the Great Rebellion, Comprising Narratives of Personal Adventure, Thrilling Incidents, Daring Exploits, Heroic Deeds, Wonderful Escapes, Life in the Camp, Field and Hospital; Adventures of Spies and Scouts, Together with the Songs, Ballads, Anecdotes and Humorous Incidents of the War.

Splendidly Illustrated with over 100 Fine Portraits and Beautiful Engravings.

There is a certain portion of the war that will never go into the regular histories, nor be embodied in romance or poetry, which is a very real part of it, and will, if preserved, convey to succeeding generations a better idea of the spirit of the conflict than many dry reports or careful narratives of events, and this part may be called the gossip, the fun, the pathos of the war. This illustrates the character of the leaders, the humor of the soldiers the devotion of women, the bravery of men, the pluck of our heroes, the romance and hardships of the service.

The Valiant and Brave Hearted, the Picturesque and Dramatic, the Witty and Marvelous, the Tender and Pathetic, and the whole Panorama of the War are here thrillingly portrayed in a masterly manner at once historical and romantic rendering it the most ample, unique, brilliant and readable book that the war has called forth.

Amusement as well as instruction may be found in every page, as graphic detail, brilliant wit, and authentic history, are skillfully interwoven in this work of literary art.

PROSPECTUS.

1868. "THE AGE," 1868.

"THE AGE."

A Democratic Daily and Weekly Journal in Philadelphia.

The attention of the Democrats and Conservative citizens of the country is called to the Daily and Weekly issues of this widely circulated journal. The dissemination of sound political doctrines should command the earnest attention of every true friend of the Union and the Constitution. The events of the past political year are full of significance. The uprising of The People in opposition to the destructive policy of Radicalism, clearly shows that the masses are determined to restore again to power the great Democratic party, every page of whose history is filled with the glory and prosperity of our common country. No more effectual method for presenting the Truth can be devised, than in circulating Democratic journals. It is the intention of the Proprietors of The Age to make it, in every way worthy of the support and confidence that have heretofore been extended to it. Improvements are contemplated in every department, and no pains or expense will be spared to keep it in the front rank of American journalism.

The Daily Age contains the latest intelligence from all parts of the world, with articles on Government, Politics, Trade, Finance, and all the current questions of the day; Local Intelligence, Market Reports, Prices Current, Stock Quotation, Marine and Commercial Intelligence, Reports of Public Gatherings, Foreign and Domestic Correspondence Legal Reports, Book Notices, Theatrical Criticisms, Reviews of Literature, Art and Music, Agricultural Matters, and discussions of whatever subjects are of general interest and importance. Besides Special Telegrams, it has all the dispatches of the Associated Press from every part of the United States, and also the Associated Press dispatches received by the Atlantic Cable; and the news from all parts of Europe brought by the steamers, is instantly telegraphed from whatever point the steamer first touches.

The Weekly Age will be a complete compendium of the news of the week, and besides the leading editorials from the Daily, will contain a large amount of interesting matter prepared expressly for the weekly issue. It will be in all respects a first-class family journal, particularly adapted to the Politician, the Farmer, the Merchant, the Family Circle, and the General Reader, having, in fact, every characteristic of a live newspaper. At an early day will be begun an intensely interesting serial, by one of the most popular and fascinating authors, and it is also the intention to publish, from week to week, in the course of the year, three or four of the best and latest novels.

Terms of the Daily.—One copy, one year, $9.00; six months, $5.00; three months, $2.50; for any less period, at the rate of one Dollar per month. Payment required invariably in advance. Postage on the Daily, thirty cents per quarter, or one dollar and twenty cents per annum, to be prepaid at the office of delivery.

Terms of the Weekly.—One copy, one year, $2; five copies, one year, $9; ten copies one year, $17·50; twenty copies one year, $33. To clubs, where the papers are sent to one address, the following reduction will be made: Five copies, one year, $8.50, Ten copies, 1 year, $16.50; Twenty copies, one year, $30. A copy will be furnished gratis for each club of ten, or more, to one address, for one year. Payment required invariably in advance. Postage on the Weekly, five cents, per quarter, or twenty cents per annum, to be prepaid at the office of delivery

The above terms will be rigidly adhered to. Drafts on Philadelphia, or Postoffice Orders, payable to the order of the Publishers, being safer, are preferable to any other mode of remittance All who send money by Express, must pre-pay Express charges. Specimen copies of the Daily and Weekly sent gratis, on application at this office. Advertisements inserted at moderate rates. Address WELSH & ROBB, 430 Chestnut street, Philadelphia. jan24w4.

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS are still ahead of all competitors and stand unrivalled in POWER, PURITY OF TONE and BRILLIANCY, and all other points which go to make a first-class instrument.
The "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is the greatest of all modern improvements on reed instruments. It CHARMS and SURPRISES all who hear it, by its wonderful resemblance to the HUMAN VOICE. Do not confound this with the common tremolo in use. It is entirely different, and far superior to any other.

The effect of your "Tremolo" is entirely new to me, and is certainly the best I ever heard.—GEO. W. MORGAN. [The first Organist of America.
No Tremolo has yet been invented that will in any degree compare with this for beauty of effect. In fact, it seems to me to be absolutely perfect.—WM. A. JOHNSON, Pipe Organ Builder.
Estey's Cottage Organs are without a superior for exceedingly quick articulation and round tone—the essential features in instruments of this class.—GEO. JARDINE, Pipe Organ Builder.
The Cotttge Organ is the best of its class I ever saw, and the best adapted for church music of any in use.—C. HEINTZ, Organist, Findlay, O.
I am much pleased with the Cottage Organ which I purchased from you; it combines sweetness and power in an unusual degree, and is quite a favorite in our family circle.—BISHOP SIMPSON.
We know no organs of the class which possess so many valuable qualities.—INDEPENDENT.
For the parlor, its sweetness is remarkable; for the church it has a power more organ-like than anything we have seen.—METHODIST.
Persons wishing to purchase an organ are requested to examine the Estey instruments now in use at the Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches, Bedford, Pa. jul26,'67

525 MILES OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD
RUNNING WEST FROM OMAHA
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.
This brings the line to the eastern base of the Rocky Mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further, to Evans' Pass, the highest point on the road, by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile, while that of many eastern roads is over one hundred. Work in the rock-cuttings on the western slope will continue through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870.
The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent. Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security, and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claim in services. These Bonds are issued as each twenty-mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first-class road, thoroughly supplied with depots, repair-shops, stations, and all necessary rolling stock and other equipments.
The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the Company. Much of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality.
The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government and no more. Hon. E. D. Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the Bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value.
The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been paid in upon the work already done.
EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.
At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and, as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable rates.
It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's are offered for the present at 90 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than U. S. Stocks. They pay SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD, or over NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Bedford by RUPP & SHANNON, and in New York at the Company's Office, No. 20 Nassau street, and by CONTINENTAL NATIONAL BANK, No. 7 Nassau st., CLARK, DODGE & CO., Bankers, No. 51, Wall st., JOHN J. CISCO & SON, Bankers, No. 33 Wall st., and by the Company's advertised Agents throughout the United States. Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds par in New York, and the bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Parties subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
A NEW PAMPHLET AND MAP, showing the Progress of the Work, Resources for Construction, and Value of Bonds, may be obtained at the Company's Offices or its advertised Agents, or will be sent free on application.
JOHN J. CISCO, Treasurer, New York.

MEDICAL.—DR. A. S. SMITH, having resumed the Practice of Medicine, solicits a generous share of the patronage of the community. Office in his residence, at St Clairsville.
He would call the attention of the public, and to those more immediately interested to the following: His health being too delicate to bear much of the fatigues and exposures consequent on general practice, he has adopted a speciality in the profession.
Soon after commencing practice, some twenty years since, he was attracted by the almost universality of female complaints, both in the married and single state. Partly from natural inclination, and in order to obtain success in practice, these complaints were made the subject of incessant study. These alterations, displacements and deranged functions of the organs peculiar to the female, are owing to that refined sense of delicacy on the part of the female, who, ignorant of the consequences, prefers to suffer in silence rather than expose her situation. Seldom cured by the general practitioner, who is prevented by this delicacy from acquiring by experience that tact and skill necessary to discriminate the exact change present, and contents himself with prescribing for the deranged functions, or overlooking the cause, simply for attendant nervous disorders, founding his prescriptions on a Plethoric Anaemonic state of the general system and the result is no benefit, as the number of the long suffering females bears ample testimony. Believing that he has, from long and special attention paid to them, acquired that skill in discriminating and experience in treating, he solicits the suffering to give him a call. No charges for consultation or examination. Visits made to all parts of the county.
Applications for medicines can be made in writing, by accompanying stamp for return letter.—Medicines sent when desired. TERMS invariably cash for all medicines and instruments.

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope.—Price six cents.
A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical cure of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits, resulting from self-Indulgence or Sexual extravagance, &c.—By DR. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book, &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of Self-Abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

1867.—"THE WORLD."—1867.
The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trustworthy newspaper.
The next year bids fair to be a more critical one in the history of our free institutions than even any eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requsite for an intelligent judgment of public affairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These THE WORLD always aims to give with conscientious accuracy, and with equal fullness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interst, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of THE WORLD for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. THE WORLD will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. THE WORLD adopts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In politics, THE WORLD will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The unflinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its politics is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion; in his Right to choose his own food and drink, in spite of meddlesome temperance laws; in his Right to make any money bargains he thinks proper, in spite of foolish usury laws; in his Right to buy and sell in all markets, domestic and foreign, in spite of unjust protective tariffs; in his Right to representation in the legislative bodies which tax him, in spite of unconstitutional exclusions; Freedom of collective citizens to assemble for discussion of grievances; Freedom of all local communities to manage their local affairs without central interference; Freedom in every section of the country from the arrogant and unconstitutional domination of other sections; this large and comprehensive idea of Freedom sums up the politics of THE WORLD, which will never be found wanting to this capital interest of the country and of the human race.
In its accurate Commercial Intelligence and careful, reliable market reports, THE WORLD will continue to maintain its present high reputation. A paper published in the commercial metropolis is naturally looked to for authentic information relating to trade, commerce and finance; and this being a feature in which the THE WORLD prides itself, it boldly challenges comparison with every journal in the metropolis.
EDITIONS.
The WEEKLY WORLD, a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, is now printed throughout in large type, and has the largest circulation of any weekly journal published, save one. Its extraordinary success since its union with the New York ARGUS has justified the most liberal expenditures, which will make it unrivalled in interest and value to farmers. Published Wednesday.
1. Its Market Reports embrace the New York, Albany, Brighton and Cambridge Live Stock Markets; the New York Country Produce and General Produce Markets; special and valuable Hop Intelligence; a department of Agricultural Reading; all together composing an unrivalled handbook of current information for the Farmer, Live Stock or Produce Dealer, Country Merchant, &c.
2. A page or more reserved for entertaining Fireside Reading for the Family circle, embracing the freshest and best Stories, Poetry, Religious Reading, etc., and a page for the Discussion of all Prominent Topics of general interest, political agricultural, financial, literary, etc.
3. Its Digest of the News is not, like most weeklies, a mere waste-basket of the Daily; only matters of interest and importance are chosen from the Daily, while the mass of its contents are prepared especially for the Weekly.
In every postoffice district there should be found some active, public spirited Democrat, who will confer a benefit upon us, his neighbors, and the cause, by counseling with his Democratic friends and making a determined effort to form as large a club as possible for the WEEKLY WORLD.
The SEMI-WEEKLY WORLD is a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, which, by omitting a great mass of city advertisements from the Daily, contains all its news, correspondence, editorials, commercial and market news, cattle markets and provision reports, and a fresh and entertaining miscellany of literature. Published Tuesday and Friday.
The DAILY WORLD affords a complete compendium of, and commentary upon, the news of every day.
